

Best New York Haircuts for Kids

July 28, 2010 10:45 AM

Oh, the trauma of the first haircut. The tears, the screaming, the stranger holding scissors near the head of your precious child—and then you have to pull out the wallet and actually pay for all of this. Well, thanks to the growth of modern-day “kids salons”, the first—and second and third—haircuts can actually be a fun experience. CBS New York has picked its favorite kid-friendly salons that do a fantastic job of reducing the drama of the ‘do.

Apple Seeds is a 15,000-square-foot area named New York Magazine’s Best Playspace of 2008. The Best Playspace’s best-kept secret is their hair salon, where kids get their locks chopped while sitting in mini-retro convertibles and watching DVDs on their own individual 15-inch flat screen TVs. Nice little extras include first-time haircut certificates and a “buy one haircut, get the second one half off” for twins (the two mom owners of “apple seeds” each have a set of twins).
